SPECIAL MEETING HELD ON MUD PROBLEM

Property Owner Assn. Aid Asked

Some 60 Broadmoor residents, up in arms over the avalanche of mud which threatens their homes on Nimitz drive and Larchmont drive due to heavy rains this past week, met at the Garden Village School Tuesday night to see if something could be done to remedy the situation.

The result was disorganized for the following reasons:

1) Their group did not have a recognized chairman and could not officially pass a motion to do anything.

2) Broadmoor Property Owners Assocation, which represents the interests of the Broadmoor citizenry, could not hold a special meeting in their interests because the Association must be petitioned by five per cent of the voters to hold a special meeting, due to the fact that Broadmoor, an incorporated village, is governed by the articles of incorporation.

3) Supervisor James Fitzgerald, who directed county crews to help out the mud slide situation last week at the Joseph Payne residence, on Nimitz drive, said the Broadmoor citizenry must form a maintenance district for the protection of their slopes. This, he asserted, was the only way the citizens could get action.

Atttorneys Emmet Hagerty and Edward O'Haire, who represent mud beleagured Payne, urged the group to band together to get action. They said that someone should have to pay for the mud situation, whether it be the builder, county, state or federal government.

According to O'Haire, Payne's homeowner's insurance policy does not cover "natural phenomenon, resulting from earth movement, landslide or mud flow.

So all the homeowners who are hurt by the slide get stuck for the bill. O'Haire asserted that there was a possibility the slide was not a natural phenomenon and may have been caused by negligence on the part of the builder, who failed to conduct a proper survey of underground springs in the area.

This company, he said, put up retaining walls, but even these were not strong enough.

At the conclusion of the meeting, a ready made petition was passed around to urge the Broadmoor Property Owners association to take over the direction in the matter.

Homeowners Sign Petition On Mud Problem

Over 50 homeowners on Higate drive in Daly City have signed a petition requesting immediate action be taken regarding the mud slide hazard behind their homes.

The petition, to be presented to the city council, requests that the hills behind the property owners on Higate drive be improved for the safety of these homeowners.

"These hills and slopes have been neglected, the fences or protective fences are out in some parts and coming down in other sections due to the slides . . ." the petition states.

A spokesman for the group said that the hills and slopes have become a tremendous hazard due to the rains and that any slides in the near future could undermine or put pressure on many power poles directly behind the property on Higate Drive.

The power poles contain high voltage and amperage, the spokesman added, and are a dangerous threat to homes and families.

Brotherhood Rally To Be Held Sunday

The third annual Brotherhood Rally sponsored by the Daly City Ministers Association will be officially observed this Sunday evening at the War Memorial building.

Doors will be open from 7:30 p.m. on in order to accommodate the several hundred Daly City residents who will come to witness the evening's program.

The program will feature three prominent speakers representing the three major faiths of our city — the Catholic, the Protestant and the Jewish — and an official greeting by Mayor Robert S. Clair.

A musical program will be heard by Cantor Harold Wachter of Temple Judea, also a recent film about brotherhood will be shown — "The Toy Maker" with Rex Sprinell, projectionist. Boy Scout Troop 4 will serve as ushers throughout the evening.

Among those who will participate in the program are the Rev. Lynn Hodges, president of the association; the

Calls Jam DC Police Board

About 150 phone calls jammed the Daly City Police Department's switchboard last night (Tuesday), starting at 10:18 o'clock.

Callers claimed a loud explosion had rocked the southern Westlake area. Police and fire units were dispatched to the area, streets were searched but cause of the explosion could not be determined.

Teen Club Suspended

Daly City Hi Fi teen club activities have been suspended for a month in the wake of an accidental stabbing which occurred at a Feb. 14 dance at the War Memorial Community Center.

The stabbing occurred when a youth drew a knife to "protect" himself from two other youths who merged upon him as he was engaged in a fist fight. One youth received a slash on the wrist.

Recreation director Charles Vincent said these dances have been going on for three years and this was the first instance of anything of a serious nature.

Teen Club activities, he said, will be suspended "in an effort to sit down with local authorities to see if our policies should be changed."

The club presently has 840 members. All are Jefferson and Westmoor High School students.

Dances and recreation nights are held on Wednesday at the War Memorial Community Center. In the past the club has sponsored trips to Blackberry farms at Sunnyvale, Turtle Rock Ranch, Mt. Diablo. Trips have been chartered to the state fair and the club has sponsored dances for the March of Dimes and Cancer drives.

Vincent said he would talk with police department juvenile officer Phillip LaBruzzo, deans, and boys and girls at both the high schools.

He expressed disappointment that activities had to be curtailed because among the 840 teen club members there were some "lemons."

Over 40,000 kids have attended different functions during the past three years, he said, and in all these functions, nothing has gone wrong.

"We want the kids to have pride in the club," Vincent said.

"The initial reaction to the closing down of activities is . . . 'will we reopen?"

Dad Crashes In Race To Save Baby's Life

A Daly City man almost lost his life Sunday, Feb. 18 as he sped to a hospital to save his dying daughter.

Richard Bonelli, 23, of 32 Gambtta drive, was speeding 70 miles per hour when he noticed that his unconscious daughter, Carole Diane, had stopped breathing.

Deciding whether he should stop to give her mouth to mouth resuscitation or continue speeding to the hospital, he tried to do both at the same time and crashed into a utility pole.

Carole Diane was dead when a physician examined her at Alemany Emergency hospital. Bonelli suffered scratches and a bruised nose. Hospital attendants told him his daughter probably was dead before the accident.

A SEA OF MUD flowed down steep slope Feb. 15, behind J. Payne residence, 1219 Nimitz drive, Broadmoor, backing up against house and flowing into bedroom window. Concrete supports and trees were carried away by the flow.

Emergency Called On North County Mud

A slimy avalanche of mud cascaded down a 100 foot slope behind the Joseph Payne residence, 1219 Nimitz drive in Broadmoor on Feb. 14, lodging trees and mud against the house and causing Payne and his family to evacuate the residence.

Steady rains continued on Feb. 15 and threatened further damage. Payne said he had no insurance to cover the loss. Concrete pillars in the hill were carried away and the mud flowed into a bedroom window, flooding the room.

San Mateo County Red Cross workers removed the furniture from the home, and Colma and Daly City fire departments and local police units hosed some of the mud away from the home to relieve pressure on the rear wall.

A plastic cover was placed on the slide so additional rain water would spill off instead of undermining the home. Firemen scooped mud from in front of the home as it washed up and accumulated.

The slide began about 7 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 14, Payne said.

"It went on all night. It started like a crack from a firecracker and at times sounded like a bomb going off!"

Payne, his wife, Tresa, and son, Jerry, 16, kept watch through the night as the mud piled up. Payne is employed as a water tester with the Ford Motor Company, Milpitas.

The San Mateo County board of supervisors, at the urging of supervisor James Fitzgerald, declared an emergency following a Friday meeting. Within hours about 20 county workers with heavy equipment arrived at Payne's residence and worked throughout the night and during Saturday, clearing the mud away from the rear of the home.

Broadmoor police chief Ray Savage praised the county for its efforts. But he said he was disappointed when he heard that County Engineer Don S. Wilson had refused to send an inspector to examine the mud slide.

Daly City Mayor Robert St. Clair dispatched Daly City public works and fire department crews shortly after being told of the emergency situation.

AFTER THE DAMAGE Colma fireman George Riccomi inspects -foot wall of mud and earth which slid down slope and partly buried Joseph Payne residence, 1219 Nimitz drive in Colma on Feb. 14.

BOMB PLANT CALLS ALERT TERRA NOVA

Six Pacifica youths were apprehended last Wednesday after making two phone calls to Terra Nova High School, informing the administration that bombs were planted and were set to go off.

The first call, eventually traced to Lou's Flying "A" station in Linda Mar, came precisely at 8 a.m. and was received by attendance clerk Mrs. Ruth Munoz. The caller said simply "there's a bomb in the school," and hung up.

Mrs. Munoz notified Principal Hal Tonini, who called the police and fire departments.

Squads from each department raced to the school and immediately began a painstaking locker-to-locker search for the bomb. Meanwhile, police sergeant Bob Oglesby and officers Mel Nelson and Don Joice began questioning students.

As the questioning proceded, a boy approached the men and informed them: "There's no bomb — it's all a joke." Meanwhile, another call came in saying the bomb was set to go off at 10 a.m.

However, the cat was out of the bag and utilizing the student's information, police officers were beginning to close in on the callers.

They now knew that the call was made by students, and were pretty sure that they weren't made from the school premises. They started to check the list of truants.

Two names on the list had been mentioned during earlier questioning ,and when officers went to the home of one of the boys at 10 a. m. they readily admitted all.

The boys had cut school and used this devious plan to "spring" some of their friends. Three boys were actually involved in the calls. They were booked on the felony charge of making a bomb threat. A fourth, who knew of the calls, was already on probation and he was booked.

The fifth and sixth boys, the ones to be "sprung," knew of the calls and were cited to appear in court.

It's News To Vets

Q—Members of the armed forces on active duty may be protected from lapse of commercial insurance policies by the VA under terms of the Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act. Just what does it mean?

A—Once your commercial insurance policy is protected by the VA under these terms, it will not lapse or terminate for nonpayment of premiums while you are on active duty and for two years after your discharge, unless you request withdrawal of the protective provisions. If you do not pay the premiums and interest to your insurance company during the protective period, the amount due will be treated by the VA as a loan. If the cash surrender value of your policy at the end of the protective period is less than the amount guaranteed, the policy will terminate and the government will pay your insurance company the difference. Any sum paid the company by the VA will become your debt to the United States.

Q—I am World War 11 veteran. Since I designated the beneficiary for my GI insurance, I have married and have two sons. How can I change my beneficiary and perhaps the option for payment to my beneficiary?

A—Write your VA Regional Office for form 9-836, "Change of Beneficiary and Election of Optional Settlement." Fill out the form and mail it to the insurance office to which you pay your GI insurance premiums.

Q—Will the VA guaranty a business loan whereby a veteran may purchase a boat to use in business, either fishing or the transportation of sightseeing tourists?

A—Yes if a veteran can negotiate a loan to buy a boat as a business venture the VA is authorized to guaranty the lender against loss up to 50 percent of the loan with a maximum guaranty of $2,000 on non-real estate loans.

Q—Why does the government pay dividends on GI life insurance?

A—The annual GI insurance dividends are primarily a return to the policyholders of part of the premiums they have paid since the death rate of veterans continues to be less than estimated in the mortality tables upon which the premium rates were set by law.

Time Does Fly!

It seems only yesterday since Daly City voters went to the polls and elected two council members to represent the electorate on that body of five men who guide the destiny of this city of nearly 50,000 population. They only elected two for the simple reason that the remaining three had two more years to serve.

Now, come the second week in April, the procedure will be reversed and three seats will be vacant and up for election. Only two council members will not have to run for re-election since they each have two more years to go.

As of now, 10 candidates will vie for the three council positions in a race that promises to be quite a hotly contested affair.

In order to be thoroughly conversant with every problem facing, or which may sooner or later be facing, the city as a whole, every qualified voter who intends to cast a ballot at the polls in this coming municipal election should start now in evaluating the various candidates, their platforms, promises, etc., and whether or not they will be able to "practice what they preach" during the next four years.

After all, a well informed electorate is one of the basic pillars of democracy—so it is up to each and every voter to be well informed before he casts his ballot in the rapidly approaching municipal election.

Mud - Mud - Mud!

Yes, it was slightly muddy around the town and near environs the past few days. Muddy enough to cause slides of the black stuff to do considerable damage to several homes and threaten many others.

Homeowners kept constant watch, night and day in some districts, to be prepared for the worst. Fire and police departments were on watch for emergencies and patiently waited out the prolonged storm that caused the emergency. (They say it only happens in Southern California—so how come we got it here?)

Kids don't seem to mind the mud — they get it on their clothes, in their hair, and possibly even eat some of the stuff — but the older generation have a feeling of fear for it — especially when it threatens to engulf a home or push it off its foundation.

Ours Not To Reason Why

Just before Congress decided to abandon the ramparts for a week to honor the memory of Abraham Lincoln, the House Ways and Means Committee voted to lift the temporary debt ceiling another two million to make it an even $300 billion.

This brings the legal limit on U. S. borrowing up to the all-time high achieved during World War II. It seems superfluous to mention that it is temporary — and impolite to cast aspersions at that balanced budget.

Change The Tune

How often do you hear our public officials and college professors, who are molders of opinion, forthrightly champion the private enterprise philosophy that made these United States a better place in which to live?

Too many of them promote schemes that glorify big government, and make the individual and industry more and more subservient to insatiable bureaucracy. Thus, they sow the seeds of socialism, and break down confidence in our free enterprise system.

Let's stop short-selling our capitalistic economy if we hope to retain individual opportunity and academic freedom, otherwise both will disappear in a socialized cesspool. Shout out virtues to a world weary of having gargantuan government on its back.

Grassroots Opinion

"Of the many fine words whose meaning has been perverted by the political stresses of our times surely one of the most abused is 'temporary' — especially in the field of public finance. When it comes to taxes, most of us have become calloused to this misuse. We have 'temporary' taxes dating back to World War II and beyond, and few are naive enough to believe that any relief from them is in the offing.—Bedford (Va.) Bulletin-Democrat.

"Nowadays many young folks make a living by working their parents and their parents make a living by working the government." — Aztec (N. M.) Independent-Review.

"Some anti-inflationists . . . suggest that the government include in its regular reports a direct measure of the value of the dollar today compared to the dollar of 1939. Using that pre-war level, today's dollar is worth only 46.6 cents."—Boone (Iowa) News-Republican.

"We forgot who said this, but we like it: 'Doing business without advertising is like winking at a girl in the dark. You know what you are doing, but nobody else does'." — Toppenish (Wash.) Review.

Food For Thought

By the Daly City Ministerial Association

Don't bother to read this unless you agree with me that there is hope, after all, for the world . . . or perhaps you ought to read it, even if you disagree, though it is unlikely that in one moment you will change an idea that you have spent a whole life time establishing.

There are those, you know, who say that there is no hope, no purpose no meaning in our age, that the world is treading down the pathway toward certain oblivion, that, at best, we are drifting aimlessly on an uncertain sea. The tide floods with fear, and ebbs with chaos.

Rev. J. W. Thomson

But is this so? Are we yet ready to drape the world with black crepe and kiss it good-bye? I doubt it. As far as I know, God has not yet deserted heaven, nor has he forgotten his little planet earth, though we at times act as if he had ceased to exist. For it is only when we forget him that we would make any such a ridiculous statement that there is "no hope," "no purpose."

But it is true that those who forget him do, in fact, live without purpose, and consequently without meaning. For man, the creature, lives with meaning only when he lives in harmony with God, the Creator. God clothes and feeds even an unbeliever, whether he be an avowed atheist or one who only acts as if there were no God (though practically there's little difference).

He sends his rain from the "windows of heaven" that the fields may flourish for all, the just and the unjust alike. But man does not really live by bread alone and those who think so are, after all, the unfortunate, lamentable, pitiable creatures whose aimless lives are lived in an empty vacuum.

Nothing else quite rings true. Nothing else makes quite as much sense to the heart of man (individually or collectively) than this: that God loves that which he made, and sent his Son to lift it from chaos and oblivion; that God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him might not perish but have everlasting life.

In doing this, God showed the world the purpose it ought to have. In doing this, he showed the meaning he intended life to have. He set the world on its feet, gave the ship a course . . . and a rudder.

To deny this, to live as if this were not so, is to be as one who has had his bail paid but refuses to step outside, and instead continues to sulk in jail, the action of a fool. To be unaware that bail had been paid would be one thing. But to know it, and deny it, would be something else again.

To share in God's legacy in Christ, to participate in Christ's purpose on earth, as well as in heaven: this is life with purpose, with meaning. And the world generally will realize its purpose only as you specifically realize your purpose in Christ, through Christ, to God. To ask whether life has meaning, whether there is a purpose for the world or not, whether there is hope for the world, is of couse pointless unless you feel your own life is filled with these factors.

The moralist would say that we stand before God alone, as if we were to indivadually walk up to God with some record or other of good deeds by which we could buy a ticket to heaven. The Christian would say, "Thank God He has given Christ to stand beside me." And he would live now in that hope, with that purpose. May it be yours.

Something For Everyone

by
Samuel Chandler

Yesterday a lady said to me, "I just read in the Westlake Times your list of controversial novels. How about a list of new books that aren't filled with 'four letter words,' and descriptions of people and places that make you retch.

Okay. It's a fair request. But, first, let's set up some standards so we know what we're talking about. Any novel — clean or dirty — has to tell an interesting story. It has to have a good plot, and portray a conflict that grips the reader; it has to have characters who are extraordinary enough to be interesting yet common enough to be believable. Moreover, it must picture universal passions, and, of course, be well written.

Among today's best sellers, I find these fill the request.

1—The Agony and the Ecstasy, by Irving Stone. This novel about Michelanglo has been a best seller for months.

2—Prologue to Love, by Taylor Caldwell. This is the story of a woman who sacrificed too much to gain great wealth.

3—Franny and Zooey, by Salinger. This is the story of people who want to find beauty in the world they know. Some of the characters profane too much, but in a rather common sort of way.

4—West with the Viking, by Edison Marshall. This is a historical novel about Lief the Lucky and his discovery of America.

5—Charles the King, by Eve Stevens. Another historical novel. This one about the revolution that dethroned Charles I.

6—Pilgrim Strangers, by Charles Mercer. This is one of several new novels about present day Africa. In this one, there are questions about the role of democratic-minded Americans in revolutionary Africa.

7—Among the Danby, by George P. Elliott . This is a selection of Elliott's short stories about Africa.

8—The American Visitor. Here Cary is at his best with a story of an American newspaper woman in what used to be British Africa.

9—For My Great Folly, by Thomas Costain. The present day master of historical novels tells a story here about the pirates of England and Spain.

10—The Best of Botts, by William Hazlett Upson. Readers of the Saturday Evening Post will recognize Alexander Botts as the extraordinary tractor salesman.

11—Jephta and His Daughters, by Lion Feuchtwanger. A story of a biblical man's struggle to save his country and his family.

There are many more. Indeed, there are more of these "clean" novels than there are "dirty" ones.

Before I lay down my pen, I want to recommend to the lady who posed the question and anyone else who wishes to read things that are beautiful and rewarding that she re-read the works of such authors as Scott, Hawthorne, James, Cronin, Douglas, Melvile, Twain, Howells, Galsworthy, Sabitini. These books are as fresh as new novels and say things that are universal with all men.

The View From ..Behind The Badge

Written and Edited by Daly City Police Department

Little Pieces of Paper

Continuing our tour of the police station offices, we walk into the main business office. Here we find Officer Welsh at his desk, where he is assigned as Records Sergeant. At this desk we find sixty-eight reports, which he is classifying, and from which he initiates the proper statistics.

Across the way, Officer Van Otten is at his desk. On this desk top we can see the current Daily Police Bulletin, which is in the process of being prepared. The desk top is further adorned with the radio call log, and with the taped report log. On this desk is the second of the two recording devices, and it is this one into which the officers speak their reports. Phones and radio microphone and other communications gear further clutter this desk.

Mrs. Sherwood presides at a desk which is covered with paper. Upon counting these papers, we will find that there are 250 foreign traffic warrants, and that many 3x5 cards to be typed therefrom. We can see six court disposition sheets on arrests, and we can see 52 Field Interrogation cards which have wended through the administrative mill and are awaiting indexing. Two arrests have been made on city ordinances, and it is at this desk that complaints are typed on this type of arrest.

Also on this desk, Mrs. Sherwood is handling disbursement on 586 Daly City Traffic Warrants. There is no blank space on this desk.

In the remaining corner of this office we can see Miss Crenshaw's desk. Walking to that location, we can view one more desk top, upon which repose the officer's day sheets for the previous watches, from which Miss Crenshaw is extracting auto accident information for use at the information counter. Citation listings are being compiled here, and those other figures we see are the arrest dispositions being compiled for State and Federal agencies.

At this desk, we can see that this young lady also presides over the juvenile file cards, and over the "rap" sheets, or criminal records forms received from Sacramento following an arrest by this Department.

Did you enjoy your tour? Busy little place, isn't it? Much work is accomplished in this office, and, if we must say so ourselves, it is accomplished by a dedicated and congenial group.

One desk which we neglected to visit in our little tour is located in a small office adjacent to the Investigation Division. There we would have seen the City PBX board, which is operated by Mrs. Keough. The board is a many eyed monster, through which approximately 300 phone calls are routed daily between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Also located here is the mail room, through which Mrs. Keough stamps outgoing mail from City Hall. After 5 p.m., Mrs. Keough sets the night lines on the board, so that phone calls are channeled directly into the Police Department business office.

Personnel Glimpses

Officer Robert STABLES now has three years with the Daly City Police. Bob and his spouse have just added a second daughter to their family. Stables served in the Army Occupation in Germany. In the Department, he has served with the Investigation Division, and is currently assigned to a radio car patrol section with the Third Platoon.

Officer Thomas CULLEY also completes three years with the Department. Culley is a Coast Guard veteran, and has worked both night watches in the Patrol Division since joining this Department. He was formerly in the newspaper business; he is currently assigned to a radio car patrol section with the Third Platoon.

In Reserve

Hubert G. BEAUMONT, 39 year old Private Investigator-Photographer, has completed one and one half years in the Reserve, and has accrued 850 hours on patrol. He was an RM-2nd for four and one half years in the Coast Guard during World War II; he served aboard the transport Leanoard Wood in the Pacific Theater. Beaumont is married and the father of two.

John A. MATZEK, retired San Mateo County Road Foreman, has served ten years with the Reserve. This 41 year Daly City resident served three years in the Navy in a carpenter company. John originally hails from Odin, Kansas.

Wanted Person

Citizens who advertise articles for sale in local newspapers should be on the lookout for a person who identifies himself as Ralph A. NORMAN. This suspect is a white male adult, 45 years of age, 5'6" tall, 160 pounds. He speaks with a Scandinavian accent, is an exceptionally personable conversationalist, and may claim to be a short story writer.

Norman's method of operation is to answer newspaper advertisements where in private citizens have advertised an article for sale. He will usually go after articles which are easily pawned, such as typewriters, cameras, projectors, and the like. He phones the address, makes an appointment with the victim, and will respond to the house, usually in the next hour or so.

At the house, suspect will usually attempt to bargain for a price lower than that stated by the householder. He will then agree on a price and will present a white counter check, which he will fill out in the amount asked, take the merchandise and leave.

Norman will usually give the address of 851 O'Farrell Street, San Francisco, from whence he moved some time ago. He will give one of several phone numbers, all of which are numbers of phone booths in the O'Farrell Street neighborhood.

Citizens who may be contacted by this individual are advised that this man's dealings are criminal in nature. If you deal with this person, you are going to lose. Contact the Daly City Police immediately upon receiving a phone call from this person. Call PLaza 5-4212, and a policeman will meet this suspect when he visits your house and will place him under arrest.

Should further information be desired on this subject, contact Inspector La Bruzzo, Investigation Division, Daly City Police.

FIRE ACTS

This article is written by Daly City firemen and is published with the purpose of keeping the public informed about their fire department, its duties and associated activities.

Throughout the year, your fire department participates in a number of civic activities—ranging from baseball games to group first aid instruction.

During the past ten days, a good deal of time was donated to the Heart Fund. This year, as in the past, your fire department helped coordinate the activities of the volunteer business men who collected in this area. We feel the results were gratifying and would like to thank all who participated.

Another important function was the celebration of the city's Golden Anniversary, where the fire department set up and supervised the fire works display, played a major role in the grand ball, sold more tickets to the banquet, an handled all the "Old Time Pictures" seen throughout the city. Plus off duty firemen who donted their spare time to other anniversary activities.

First aid is another public service offered to PTA and other groups that request instrucvtions. The course is conducted by the fire department first aid specialists. A standard first aid card is given to those who qualify. It is felt that every parent should know something about first aid.

During baseball season, and in cooperation with the police department, the more aggressive firemen, with heroic disregard for their pot bellies and ex-college trick knees will exchange their fire department uniforms for a baseball suit. A number of games are played with the donations going to the Police Athletic League.

When the United Crusade camaign was upon us, most of the firemen cheerfully reached into their pockets. This year, 98 per cent of the department donated to this worthy cause.

Beginning in October of each year, "Toys for Tots" gets underway. People bring to our central fire station discarded and broken toys. For the ten weeks before Christmas, Santa's helpers in blue uniforms will do their best to fix and improve the appearance of their toys. We would like to mention, too, that many city businessmen, church groups and other organizations under the general chairmanship of P. Markovich contribute hundreds of new toys. Three days before Christmas, both the new and reconditioned toys are assorted according to age. Off-duty firemen help distribute the toys to needy families. It is very gratifying to know that due to our efforts some less fortunate child will be a little happier.

Boy Scout Troop 65 is sponsored by the fire department and has been since 1954. Each year $100 is taken from a special fund and given to the troop so that they may purchase camping equipment and other necessities. On occasions firemen have stepped in as assistant Scout masters and even Scout master. Many times these same firemen have taken the boys camping or hiking. The troop itself is very public spirited. The boys have helped in the Daly City Dog Show, the United Crusade and handed out "Get Out to Vote" circulars. On Jan. 27, Troop 65 in conjunction with Troop 245 and Cub Pack 245 assisted the fire department in passing out city budget circulars.

Last, but not least, we must mention that a few of the fire department personnel are active members of one of the many Armed Forces Reserve organizations.

We do not necessarily feel that the mentioned civic activities, whether they be local or national are extra curricular. We do feel, however, that if we are to be better than average public servants then we must act accordingly.

During the period of Feb. 4 to Feb. 10, your fire department responded to the following calls:

House fires 4, auto fires 1, stove fires 1, dryer fires 1, rubbish fires 1, smoke scares 3, false alarms 5, lockouts 5, storm damage 6, inhalator 4, 1. Total calls 39. muscellaneous 6, wash downs

Thought for the week: Keep all flammable liquids in metal containers.

COUNTY DOINGS

by JACK WOOD

The biggest turnout of candidates for the largest number of council posts in county history beat the noon deadline last Thursday.

Eighty-six candidates were trying to get elected to fill vacancies throughout the county.

* * * *

A decline in the rate of juvenile delinquency in San Mateo county is noted in the final report of the 1961 county grand jury, according to Superior Judge Frank W. Rose.

Among major recommendations in the report were these:

1. Appointment of a public defender.
2. Outlawing of cardrooms and pinball machines.
3. Stricter control over welfare aid.
4. Arming of reserve policemen in Daly City.
5. Appointment of three new municipal court and two new superior court judges.
6. Abolishment of the practice of "moonlighting" by county employes.
7. Appointment of a citizens' advisory library committee.

The grand jury will be impaneled in the coming week by Superior Judge J. A. Branson.

Pacifica city engineer Alfred Roberts presented a picture of street flooding, storm drains backing up and near flooding of homes in various spots throughout the city during recent storms last week before the city council.

Although most of the city suffered no storm damage, Roberts said several spots presented dangerous flood conditions.

He said that a sewage pumping station at Fairway Park failed twice and the Brighton pumping substation was also flooded out.

Plans were underway for street improvements including adequate storm drains in the Sharp Park area west of Cabrillo highway and north of the golf course, regarded as one of the critical areas.

* * * *

Continued rains gave ominous aspects in South San Francisco, as steady downpours caused runoffs from the recently graded Western slopes to choke Colma Creek.

The rain offered a threat of flooding Southbound lanes on Junipero Serra highway had to be closed south of San Bruno avenue.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Residents Say Cars All Going 'Much Too Fast'

Dear Editor:

We, the undersigned, have a grievance which we would like to have made publicly known. We would like to call to the atention of the Daly City police department that we need cooperation of a nature that has not been given to us in the past.

We live in the vicinity of Vista Mar School, on Southgate avenue, and we have seen for ourselves that traffic moves MUCH TOO FAST for a school zone. Recently, there has been one accident, definitely, and also "near" accidents, resulting from cars that drive TOO FAST in this area.

We all have young children attending Vista Mar School. We have felt in the past that they were safe in crossing Southgate avenue at the crosswalk at Westridge avenue.

Now we are beginning to wonder! Hence, we have turned to the one source which we felt would support us: the Daly City police department.

What has happened: We've been given the "run-around!" "Just a moment, please, I'll connect you with the right department . . ." "Oh, sorry, he's just stepped out for a moment . . ." "I'll have him call you when he returns . . ." "I'm sorry, my department can't handle this sort of thing . . ."
XZ?b&?ee— m m b

Now, where do we turn? Why cannot we have a member of the Daly City police department patrol this area at the times of class dismissal, so that he can see for himself that this condition really exists? We need HELP! This is why we appeal to you, you of the police department!

Help us to safeguard the lives of our young ones—wouldn't it be easier on your conscience to sit in wait in a patrol car and PREVENT an accident than to know that a life has been damaged or ended, simply because of negligence?

DeBernardi wants Daly City to take a serious look into a survival shelter program with monies to be allocated from the federal government. One of the youngest mayors in California, St. Clair entered politics, only four years ago. A native San Franciscan, he attended the University of San Francisco before transfering to Tulsa University where he received his BA degree in Public Administration. Planetarium Shows Death Of The Sun

Beginning February 13, Morrison Planetarium at the California Academy of Sciences in Golden Gate Park will present a highly dramatic astronomy show, "The Birth and Death of the Sun." For such an overpowering subject, planetarium astronomers are "pulling all the stops" to create illusions and effects never before seen at the Bay Area's Theatre of the Stars. "Birth and Death of the Sun" promises to be a singularly breathtaking spectacle.

"It all begins in utter chaos," commented George Bunton, manager of the planetarium. "And we've created special chaos projectors that are really chaotic!" He continued. "In the short space of an hour, we hope to give our audiences an insight into the sun's origins and its growth. Later, we project into the future to that time—even though it is billions of years hence—when old Sol will expand and expand and finally engulf the earth. Then it will collapse—and that will be that."

In this show, many of these dramatic effects are created on the 65-foot dome of the Planetarium, underscored with powerful music, and anyone witnessing the show will never after look up at the sun and "take it for granted."

This show is presented Wednesday through Sunday at 3:30 and 8:30 p.m. with extra matinees at 2 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays. Closed Mondays and only one performance, at 3:30 on Tuesdays. This show runs through April 1.

A SHORT HISTORY OF THE H. LIEBES STORE

The history of H. Liebes parallels the history of San Francisco.

In 1864 two sturdy pioneers, Herman Liebes and Herman Behlow, sailed their own schooner through the Golden Gate. They were hunters and fur traders and their three masted ship was laden with the finest sealskins from Alaska.

The partners set up shop at 113 Montgomery Street and began to make stylish coats, muffs, collarettes and turbans.

The gold boom was on and the young business flourished. Ladies in bustles came to buy the sealskin treasures, more highly prized than the mink of today.

In 1890, after Herman Liebes, grandfather of the present owners, Sidney and Lloyd Liebes, had bought out Behlow, H. Liebes and Company moved to Post and Grant. In 1906 they were burned out like most others in that area.

After a temporary move to Van Ness Avenue, they returned to Post Street and made a historic decision. Ready-to-wear was the trend of the times. So they stocked a full line of fashionable apparel with plenty of the most popular item—shirtwaists.

In 1915 style conscious San Francisco women were wearing Astrakhan ripple capes, moleskin saques, ulsters of sealskin and boas of wolf, fisher and skunk. H. Liebes had begun to import suits, sportswear and elegant gowns from the fashion capitols of Europe. They set up a handsome exhibit in the Palace of Fine Arts during the Pan Pacific International Exposition.

In 1948 brothers Sidney and Lloyd took command as president and vice-president. During that year they moved to a larger building at Geary and Grant.

Another momentous decision loomed. Times were changing and suburban branches were becoming a must for progressive merchants. H. Liebes in Hillsdale opened in 1955.

Tomorrow marks the advent of store No. 3—H. Liebes in Westlake.

H. Liebes has always been a family business and through the years successive members of the Liebes clan have anticipated the needs of San Francisco women with chic and wearable merchandise.

Post-war changes and air travel brought Mrs. Lloyd Liebes into the picture. She established and manages the gift shops which feature imports from all over the world.

Lloyd Liebes, Jr. is the buyer for the coast and fur departments. He also designs coats which are manufactured to his specifications.

Lloyd Liebes III, now seven years old, when asked by his grandfather, Lloyd, Sr., if he would like to enter the business, replied: "I don't think so. All the best jobs are already taken by Uncle Sidney, grandmother, daddy and you."

An All Jeff Wedding

Cecile Champagne Becomes Bride Of Ronald Leslie Moon

A January 27 candlelight service at Grace Presbyterian Church was the scene for the wedding of Cecile Anne Champagne to Ronald Leslie Moon. The Rev. Augutns J. Cox performed the service.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Champagne, 130 Elmwood court, San Bruno, followed the age old tradition of wearing "something old," by wearing her great-great grandmother's engagement ring. Her gown was a white brocade Emma Domb with three quarter sleeves, tailored bows and sweetheart neckline. A flat Princess panel front swept back into full sides and a chapel train. The headpiece was of pearls and crystal.

The maid of honor, Renee Champagne, sister of the bride, wore a matching gown with Coronet headpiece and veil. Bridesmaids Mrs. Doris Howard, Miss Lynn Karigan and Denise Champagne, wore attire matching the maid of honor.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Clarence Champagne. Honored relatives in attendance were Mrs. B. Watson and Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Sheppard, grandparents of the bride.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Moon, 1 Garden lane, Colma. Best man was Mike Wedlike. Ushers were Wayne Moon, Lee Casentini, George McNutt, Dave Harris and Ron Heusman.

The newlyweds both attended Jefferson High School in Daly City. The bride was president or her senior class in 1958, and the groom student body president in 1957. The bride currently attends San Francisco State College and is student teaching in Berkeley.

Central American Education

THE MILITIA OF EL SALVADOR

by Paris B. Simmons

The two experiences being related in this column, give certain insights into the people and nation of El Salvador. While both were not devoid of humor, they are for purposes of developing these concepts, treated rather seriously.

A camera, 35 mm was stolen from a scooter which was parked in a garage, during the visit of the four school teachers to San Salvador. (Tourists should always take camers with them, and keep in their immediate possession, for the poor can obtain enough food to support their familes for several days, from the sale of such stolen equipment on the illegal black-market).

The theft was reported to the local police at the Central Police Station in San Salvador, and the matter turned over to two investigators who went with the four teachers to the garage, where a thorough investigation was made. The teachers were told to report back to the police station the next day.

Arriving early in the morning, they were informed by the new staff, now on duty, that there was no record made of the loss,—ushered into a room where they met a U.S. citizen, assigned by the State Department in the capacity of advisor to the police. After discussing the matter, two additional investigators were assigned, and another thorough investigation held at the garage.

The interesting part of this particular experience is the thoroughness and regard the investigators had in attempting to do their job. The camera was not located, but the time put out by the police exceeded by far what would have been put out in the US, on a similar loss. This willingness to forget time and place themselves at the disposal of the visitor, is a trait which appears to be quite common in the Central American Republics.

The writer was looking over a few items in a display case in a hotel when a waiter caught his eye and motioned for a short conference. The waiter was very concerned that a purchase would be made from the display case, explaining that every item contained in it could be purchased three or four times cheaper at the market, a few blocks from the hotel.

A visit to this market proved that the waiter was quite right, and the waiter had, at the actual risk of his position, attempted to assist.

The second episode occurred when the four scootering teachers neared the El Salvador-Honduras border. Rounding a sharp curve, about dusk, they noted two army soldiers with machine guns at the side of a bridge. The soldiers motioned the scooters on, but a few moments later they came up to a barracade across the highway, which was situated near a schoolhouse. Pointing at the 4 teachers, from the schoolhouse, were all types of artillery. Three guards approached the scooters and requested papers of the drivers. As these were being examined the Lt. in charge of the soldiers came up and spoke a greeting in excellent English. He introduced himself as George Dehming, and asked that he be addressed as George. George was a career officer in the El Salvadoran Army. He had gone through school in San Francisco, and had a son currently living in Daly City.

George was eager that the four teachers stay at the encampment, explaining the reason being planned by Castro forces through Honduras,—even pointing out the route which was expected to be taken by the invading forces.

Taking advantage of the opportunity for adventure presented to them, the four teachers agreed to stay, and their scooters were pushed by the soldiers into the schoolyard in the center of the encirclement of artillery. George then took the teachers to the home that he was using while on duty, sent forth word by an aide that he desired a meal to be prepared for the travelers from a home nearby, and discussed armadillo hunting with the group, stating if he was not recalled in the morning to his base, that he would be happy to take the teachers on an armadillo hunt. (Incidentally, George insisted on paying for the dinner for the entire group).

Unfortunately, George was recalled a few hours later and a new group of soldiers, with officer, arrived to replace his corps.

While no invasion took place, the experience of sleeping amid a group of soldiers, armed to the teeth, was a novel experience.

Both of these episodes point to the important concept that the people of Central America are very eager to be friends and willing to go to great lengths to prove their friendship and hospitality. Appreciating this, and actively participating in strengthening such friendships is a "must" in obtaining the basic understandings necessary for a Central American Education.

Vista Mar Children Visit Fire Department

The first graders in Mrs. Terry Steele's room at Vista Mar are learning about firemen and the equipment they use to keep the neighborhood safe. The children toured the school to locate the fire alarm boxes and the other fire fighting equipment and talked about their use. They brought in model fire trucks and the class learned about the different kinds and how and when they are used.

On Feb. 8, the class went on a study trip to the Lake Merced fire station. The children were shown the communications room. They were very interested in all the equipment in this room and were able to observe their use. They were then shown the different kinds of fire trucks and were told about the equipment on each truck. At this time, a fireman demonstrated the Scott Air Pac, which is a breathing apparatus worn in a smoke-filled room. He also donned the special clothing worn by firemen and explained why they needed this clothing.

The trip to the station helped the children obtain much new information and enabled them to gain a better understanding of our fire department.

DR. EARL S. HERALD of television's "Science in Action" (center) received an honorary life membership from Olympia PTA on Feb. 8. The presentation was made by Edward Headman (left). Mrs. Lewis Hess, Olympia PTA president, pins a boutonniere on Dr. Herald after the ceremony.

'Science In Action' Host Honored By Olympia PTA

The highlight of the annual Founder's Day celebration of the Olympia PTA was the presentation of the honorary life membership to Dr. Earl S. Herald, well known host on television's "Science in Action" program.

The honorary life membership is given in recognition of outstanding service to children and youth and with each special membership the amount of $25 is added to a revolving fund to assist students to further their education beyond high school.

Edward Headman presented the honorary life membership and cited the many reasons why Dr. Heral was chosen as this year's recipient. Dr. Herald has been active in YMCA and Scout work for many years, having been in charge of nature study and handicrafts for Los Angeles YMCA. He also started the junior naturalist program in Sequoia National Park in 1937. He is at present assistant scoutmaster of Troop 63 and was master of ceremonies at the "Kick-Off" of Boy Scout Week on Feb. 7 in Union Square.

Dr. Herald received his appointment as superintendent and curator of Steinhart Aquarium at the California Academy of Sciences in 1948 and has functioned as host of the television program "Science in Action" for ten years. He has recently published a book, "Living Fishes of the World," which is being translated and published in five languages. Dr. Herald was presented with a boutonniere by PTA president Mrs. Lewis Hess, and after a gracious acceptance speech he was congratulated by all the PTA members and guests present.

The Founder's Day program also included an amusing skit presented by Mrs. Nicholas Budea, who recited the history of the Olympia PTA in the form of a telephone call to a friend.

Science Fair To Visit Franklin

The first annual school science fair will be held at Benjamin Franklin Intermediate School in the school multi-purpose room on March 6.

The event, sponsored by the advanced science classes at Benjamin Franklin, taught by Mrs. Margie Downey and Carl Hunter, will display special projects of seventh and eighth grade students. These projects will be shown and judged at the PTA meeting on the evening of March 6 at the school.

The seventh and eighth grades will be judged separately in both the physical and biological sciences. Group and individual projects will be judged separately. The most points in the judging will be given on the basis of creative ability, that is, the originality of the approach to the problem. Other considerations will be thoroughness, skill, clarity and dramatic value.

The winners at the school fair will enter their projects in the Bay Area Science Fair, to be held April 7-11 at the California Academy of Sciences in Golden Gate Park.

"SCIENCE IN ACTION" host Dr. Earl S. Herald and Ben Franklin teacher Margie Downey discuss with Mrs. Downey's science class the forthcoming trip the pair will take to Los Angeles to discuss the popular television series with audiovisual representatives of the Los Angeles schools. Mrs. Downey has used Dr. Herald's series in her classroom for the last three years.

TV Science Program Captures Youth Fancy

by Mona Baker

Winging their way down to Los Angeles by jet today (Wed. Feb. 21) are Westlake residents, Dr. Earl S. Herald, television host on "Science in Action" and Mrs. Margie Downey, science teacher at Benjamin Franklin School, Daly City, who both will speak before the audio-visual representatives of the Los Angeles schools at NBC's Burbank studies. Also accompanying them and addressing the group is the executive producer of the series, Benjamin Draper, who is one of the top producers of prestige programs in the nation.

Dr. Herald will discuss the program and the many internationally-known scientists (including Nobel prize winners) who have guested on the show during the past twelve years. Mrs. Downey will talk on the development and use of "Science in Action" classroom worksheets which she devised for use by teachers. In Los Angeles 100 school buildings are supplied with her worksheets. She also prepared a teacher's guide which is being used by the Los Angeles teachers.

It all began just three years ago when Mrs. Downey, searching for supplementary work for her science students, decided to use the "Science in Action" program as a weekly homework assignment. To assist her students in following the program she developed the classroom worksheet. Other teachers in the Jefferson Elementary School District where Benjamin Franklin School is located, also started using her guide.

Produced by the California Academy of Sciences, "Science in Action" is currently enjoying its greatest success in all its twelve award-laden years. According to Draper an important factor in the success of the program is the classroom worksheet developed by Mrs. Downey. In fact in Honolulu where the sponsor of the program the Hawaiian Telephone Company pays for the publication and distribution of 13,000 copies of the worksheet for the students, Sebron Calhoun, public relations director for the company, was so delighted with their all time high rating, he telephoned Draper by trans Pacitic telephone to tell him the good news.

In the 12 years that "Science in Action" has been seen over KRON-TV it has received practically every national and local television award in the country. Dr. Herald, the articulate and talented host, is curater of aquatic biology at the California Academy of Sciences' famous Steinhart Aquarium in San Francisco. He also is author of the book "Living Fishes of the World," the sixth volume in the World of Nature series which was published last year by Doubleday and Company.

Hazel Colwell Is Honored By PTA

Thunder and lightning on the evening of Feb. 15 excited the already anticipatory audience at Vista Grande School and prefaced the awarding of the honorary life membership by Mrs. Hazel Colwell, chairman of this committee of the Vista Grande-Thornton PTA. The recipient was Mrs. Ethel Wood Heerdt, presently a teacher of a second and third grade class at Vista Grande.

Her first teaching position at a small rural school in Humboldt County undoubtedly gave her valuable experience instructing different age groups in a class, as it consisted of one room having all the grades. She has also taught in Petaluma for two years, San Francisco as a substitute, and Woodrow Wilson School in Daly City for eight years. Much of her spare time has been spent working with different youth and community groups.

Members of her family who were present to see her honored were Mrs. Mead Torr, mother; Mrs. Ronald (Mary Lou) Bauer, daughter, and son Mark; William Heerdt, husband. Her other daughter, Toni, was unable to attend due to college commitments.

Law Protects Vets Widow's Benefit Rights

Enactment of Public Law 87-268, which became effective October 1, 1961, liberalized widow's benefits for dependency and indemnity compensation, San Mateo County Veterans' Service Officer, Floyd D. Granger, pointed out.

The law provides that in cases where the amount payable to a widow is less than the amount of death pension, the Veterans Administration shall pay the dependency indemnity compensation in an amount equal to such pension.

Dependency indemnity compensation is paid to a widow whose husband's death was service-connected. The basis of payment is $112 per month plus 12 percent of the basic pay of the veteran depending upon his rank and years of service. In effect, this means that the lowest payment would be $122 a month, and the highest, $337.

On the other hand, a widow eligible for nonservice-connected death pension, whose income does not exceed $1,000 per year, and who has five children, could receive payments of $135 a month, plus $15 for each additional child.

The new law authorizes the Veterans Administration to pay the widow of a veteran an amount equal to the greater amount which the beneficiary would be entitled to under the pension program. Payment, however, would be made as dependency indemnity compensation, which would mean that the widow would not be bound by the income limitations of the pension program.

"The increased benefits authorized by the act will be payable from last October 1," Granger stated, "provided application is filed with the VA within one year of the effective date. We will be pleased to assist any eligible claimants and to explain their possible benefits under the new law if they will visit their County Service Office, located at the Courthouse, Redwood City, California."

Vet Payments Are Tax Free

Veterans receiving pension or compensation checks are again asking the Veterans Administration this time of the year "Is my VA check considered to be income and must I report it on my income tax return?

The answer is no, commented Glenn Corbitt, Manager of San Francisco VA Regional Office.

Veterans benefits are tax free. These benefits which do not need to be reported include disability compensation compensation and pension, dividends on GI insurance policies, education and training allowances, subsistence allowances for disabled veterans receiving vocational training, grants on homes for "wheelchair living," grants for motor vehicles for physically handicapped veterans, and death benefits paid to survivors.

The only exception is interest earned by GI life insurance dividends left on deposit with VA. It is only the interest earned by such dividends, not the dividend, which is taxable and must be reported, Corbitt pointed out.

Checker Stakes To Conventions

Berkeley's Claremont Hotel, that great medieval looking fortress that sits high in the hills above Cal and was once the stakes in a 1907 game of checkers between two Klondike miners named Frank Havens and Borax Smith, and today looks like the big brother of the Woodland Cemetery castle in Colma, was the scene last week for the convention of the California and Pacific Southwest Recreation Conference—a group comprised of men whose profession it is to keep us all rosy-cheeked. (Phew!).

Fifteen hundred of these professional fitness salesmen, mit families, attended and spent the week meeting in seminars to discuss the multifarious sides of recreation. Pertinent to us is the recreation program of a city.

From Daly City recreation, Chuck Vincent, director of, and Ed Tomasello, supervisor of, things sportive, attended.

So knowing full well how fresh this all would be in those gentlemen's minds, I cornered Chuck the other day to find out, after all, what's so hard about running a recreation program for a twentieth of a million people.

* * * *

A NICKEL OF THE TAXES you pay per $100 property valuation to both the Jefferson Union High School District and the Jefferson Elementary School District goes for recreation.

Last year about $19,000 came from the JESD. That much used to come from the high school district until certain economies and repairs forced Mr. Morgan's group to apply that money to school-ground improvements.

Anyway, the rec. dept. takes its nickel, adds to it about $130,000 from the city's Park and Recreation budget, and that is the year's paycheck: USE: To keep us all from dalliance through diversion.

The nineteen grand from the JESD is used to pay the salaries of the men who operate the recreation programs on school playgrounds after school and on week-ends. It does not go for any kind of facility improvement or equipment purchase. That money comes from the real Big Daddy—the city.

* * * *

THIS PAYMENT OF RECREATION leader salaries by the school district is done for reasons of economy. If the school grounds couldn't be used for recreation programs, then facilities would have to be duplicated, and why build a big municipal playground when you can use the school grounds by just providing your man. And the school district pays his salary. The elementary school district in this town plays a vital role in the after-school recreation programs run by the city.

And when you're a nice guy look what happens—the school people when they get in trouble, like say Jefferson High not having any place where the boys can throw balls through hoops, can come up and say resolutely—look here fellows, we need a gym. And so the Indians use the War Memorial all year. I'm sure that Mike Orlich, John Mongan and Ed Morgan get that GOOD feeling like you get when you realize that that big winner that came in, YOU HAD, and got your money down on just in the nick of.

* * * *

WESTMOOR PARK IS another area where different jurisdictions are collaborating to provide a recreation program. This little spa up on the hill, when complete will have six tennis courts, three handball courts (try, by the way, to play handball in S. F.), a tot lot, baseball diamond, clubhouse and parking lot. It's been a 50-50 city-high school district project.

Swimming is another area where there is cooperation. Though right now there is no place where a citizen can swim, soon the Jefferson High will be open to the public again (and probably under rec. dept. jurisdiction), and Westmoor High will get a pool.

How do I know that Westmoor will get a pool? Because I have seen a little survey report put out by the Westlake Improvement Association, and said survey said the homeowners said yes, they would like a pool, and yes, they would like it at Westmoor High.

Besides there's no place else to put it.

* * * *

BEFORE CHUCK TRUNDLED OFF he unburdened himself of a little more sand from his oyster by mentioning what the rain did to his program.

"As of right now, except for the War Memorial Building, we have no indoor facility. During this last rainstorm there was no place the kids could go. When summer comes we can go inside the school multi-purpose rooms (auditoriums to those over 20 yrs.), but there's nothing now."

Well who needs shelter during the summer? That's when the sky is blue; the sun shines . . . whoops . . . I forgot . . . sorry.

Chuck especially thinks that playgrounds like Northridge and Palisades up there on the barranca should have some sort of a clubhouse. Well—we are making progress. They got one at Lincoln.

And finally he mentioned M. Pauline Brown School. "Kids by the hundreds come there after school," he said, "and before I could put a playground man up there I'd have to pull him off some place else."

There's always that pound of flesh.

Basketball Tourney Held At Ben Franklin

A basketball tournament was held Saturday Feb. 17 at the Benjamin Franklin gymnasium. Kenny Liss led his team to a 16-6 victory, by scoring 12 points over captain Mike Corso's team.

In the second game captain Guy Aronson scored four points and teammate Dale Taylor scored six points to lead their team to a 13-11 win over Mike Corso's team.

In the final game Ken Liss once again led his team with 10 points to help score 13-4 over Guy Aronson's team.

Jefferson Enrolls 7' 6" Center: Set To Go Friday At Westmoor

The basketball picture at Jefferson High School has overnight changed completely with the Monday enrollment of 7-foot 6-inch Duard Farquart, high scoring former center on the Muy Alto Junior High School Midgets.

Mike Orlich was ecstatic when he learned of Farquart's admission. "He'll be at guard for the Westmoor game Friday night," said Orlich. "He's too big to go at center. With the rest of our boys so small, he'd end up getting hit in the head by our own shots."

DUARD FARQUART, JEFFERSON'S NEW 7-foot 6-inch guard. Farquart enrolled Monday creating jubilation throughout the campus as the Friday encounter with Westmoor approaches. In the picture Duard is spoofingly watching airplanes fly about him.

Jeff,it seems, had the inside track to Farquart all the way. Few other schools knew of the boy because he didn't really begin to shoot up until early in this basketball season.

Then, for some reason still unexplained at this time, he began to grow. Jefferson scouts watched the boy's growth and when he reached seven feet, last Wednesday, they talked him into the transfer. He was seven-six by the time he reached the school.

Off past performance, it's impossible to tell how Farquart will do from the far out position of guard. His shooting percentage at Muy Alto shows that he is most effective when able to "dunk" the ball.

Interviewed, Farquart had this to say: "I gotta get up close so I can dunk. From outside the key, I can't touch the rim and I have to let go of the ball. And it's harder that way."

It is difficult to say in what way Duard will change the Indians' attack. Known for their fast-break, slam-bang style of play, the Indians may be slowed down by this heavy-footed addition. Farquart himself admits that he's no sprinter, but claims that this is no liability because "I can still block a man's shots from seven or eight steps behind him. Besides, though my big feet can't move very fast, I take big steps. Four jumps get me from one end of the court to the other.

Orlich has refused to comment on exactly how he plans to use the big man in Friday night's cross city encounter with rival Westmoor. When interviewed by this reporter, Orlich curtly admonished him to "mind your own business."

On the basis of Farquart's admission, Jefferson, currently nestling in next-to-last place in the Peninsula League, must be made the favorite for the big duel. Gary Allard at six-two, Westmoor's tallest man, will find himself a full foot and a half shorter than the fast growing guard. In fact by game time it may be more.

Two-timing Duard will simply play into the hands of the Indians fast break style by leaving a man open. It appears to be a real dilemma.

The Rams however, come off a two game winning streak, and their highest scoring mark of the season in last week's 68-51 win over South S.F. Coach Tony Giammona called the game "our best team effort."

And indeed it will take a team effort to stop the on court efforts of the off court fashion plate Farquart. He is, as is seen in the picture on the left, a credit to Savile Row.

But the Rams could do it. Possessed of tremendous depth, the plan may well be to run the big man to death. Fresh reserves to tire his lumbering frame.

On the hill at Westmoor things are strangely quiet. When finally contacted Giammona replied, "I have nothing to say on this new man Farquart. We have made our adjustments and expect to be able to handle him effectively."

The whole town awaits . . .

Rams Win Two Meet Jeff Fri.

Westmoor climbed back up to the .500 percentage mark last week with wins over Aragon, 48-47, and South San Francisco, 68-51. The two victories ended a four game Ram losing stretk.

Wednesday, against Aragon in the Ram gym, two buckets in the waning moments by substitute Ted Tobby brought the hilltoppers from behind to give them the one point victory. Tobby hit on a layup with :12 remaining to give the Rams their first lead since the second quarter. The Dons got two shots in during those final 12 seconds, the first one missed, and the second—the one that would have given Aragon the one-point victory—went swishing through just a split second after the final buzzer.

The Rams were paced by Mike Daniels with 10 points, followed by Steve Schmuck with nine and Gary Allard with eight. Aragon's Mark Jorgenson took game scoring honors with 14 points.

Rams vs. Warriors

Friday night against the South San Francisco Warriors, the Rams hit their season high in scoring with a stunning 68-51 victory. At one time, early in the second half, Westmoor had a 55-14 edge.

Dick Drake, the Peninsula League's leaading scorer, accumulated three fouls during the first five minutes of play and sat on the bench the remainder of the period. He returned in the second half and sparked his mates to a resurgence, but by this time the Rams had the game put away.

Westmoor substituted freely throughout the game, but the reserves hit as well as the regulars. Scoring honors went to Mike Daniels and Steve Payette with 13 apiece, followed by Jack Kelly with 10 and Garl Allard with seven.

The Warrior lightweights evened things with a 50-35 win in the preliminary.

It's SPARE TIME

at Westlake Bowl

As the second annual Westlake Handicap Doubles tournament reached the halfway mark, Ralph Ostergren and Jim Marston with a 1718 total held a slim three pin lead on first place over Jan and Dick Hayes. Both doubles teams have already collected $50 for being weekly leaders and are now hoping to hold on for the final guaranteed prizes of $600 and $400, respectively.

Larry Schultz moved into first place in the optional singles with a 705 total, 13 pins over Les Reams. Again both took home weekly winner's prizes of $20 and are hoping for the $200 and $125 first two guaranteed prizes at the end of the touranament.

Primo Liberatore reports that over 200 doubles teams shot during the first three weeks and that the guarantee has already been met although the tournament doesn't end until March 4.

Two new records were established in the Standard Oil Men's League as Andy Lee rolled a 232 high game; and Steve Ihara posted a 618 high series total. This should be fair warning for the Richmond teams when the SOHO Roll-off is held at the season's end.

Adele Miley and Rick Dreier were the winners of the two Las Vegas vacations for two in the Valentine No-Tap tournament. Ninety-two bowlers competed for the vacations plus over $70 in cash prizes. After bowling, the group danced to the music of Angie Ferrigno's combo. The affair was such a success that another similar event, plus a buffet, is planned for St. Patrick's Day, March 17.

Bob Thomas led the Physically Handicapped Indoor Sports Association group as Westlake played host to teams from Marin County and the East Bay. Bob's 115 game and 305 series led the men while Irene Chapman was high for the ladies with 101 and 249.

Converting the 5-10 split was all the rage last week as the following girls performed this difficult feat: Grace Happoldt, Dee Cowan, Loretta Warto, Hazel White, Carmen Kristovich and Betty Levesque.

Thursday, March 1, is the date of the next Fashion Show luncheon. With fashions from J. C. Penney, the show will feature Easter outfits, particularly bonnets. Reservations may be made by calling the YWCA office at PL 6-7370.

Larry Painter of Schilling's Spices in the 805 Scratch League has regained the "touch" as he rolled a 236 game and 586 series.

The National Masters 900 Scratch League members continue to set the pace for high game and series. Last week there were six series over the 600 mark, led by Tony Pavlovich's tremendous 663 effort on games of 224-217-222. Others in the charmed circle were Sin Johnson, 619; John Bazzanella, 611; Ernie Lazzeri, 607; George Colclough, 603, and Chick Liebrenz, 601.

In the second match game of the A-1 Nursery Leagues—men vs. women—the ladies almost took revenge for last month's defeat. Angie Cestone, Frann Morris and Katie Flanagan had a team series of 1756. This won the high award for the ladies. High award for the match went to the men's team of Carl Wetteald, Larry Long and Dick Sommerville with 1760 pins. Sponsor Dorothy Moyle has scheduled another match for March 15 at 11:30 a. m.

High game and series for the men went to Bert Heineman with 244—550. For the ladies, these awards went to Mildred Garrett with 200—508. Barney Komenda rolled a 221 game, and Tom Dillon a 201.

The Holy Rollers League had a bit of excitement last week as Thelma Wall announced her engagement to Nick Daher. Congratulations.

Indians Lose Two

Jeff lost two more last week, Wednesday to San Mateo, 62 to 41, and Friday to Aragon, 59-49. Both games were played on the winners' courts.

Against the league-leading Bearcats, the Indians never week in the contest as San Mateo raced to a 17-5 first period lead, and enlarged it the rest of the way.

"We got as many shots in as they did," said coach Mike Orlich, "but we couldn't hit."

San Mateo, by virtue of this victory and a Friday night win over Terra Nova, thus moves into a three game lead with only four remaining. One more win will assure the Bearcats of at least a tie for the Peninsula legaue crown.

Jeff's record is now three wins in 14 attempts, and leaves the boys firmly entrenched in ninth place, three games above last place Terra Nova.

High for the Indians was the fast improving Don Boden with 15 points. He was followed by Bog Brush with 10 and Rich Reitz with nine.

The lightweights could fare no better as they went under, 48-37, despite a 17-point performance by Steve Willis — a young gentleman that Mike Orlich is hoping will be able to hit that figure consistently for next year's varsity.

ARAGON

Again at Aragon it was a matter of too little, too late, as the Dons got off to a commanding 28-18 half-time lead and held that margin despite being outscored, 20-11, in the last period.

The loss of guard Darwin Haanen 5:31 into the second period ruined whatever chance the Indians might have had. The slim guard had been harrassing the Dons throughout the first minutes with his ball-stealing tactics, but in doing so accumulated four personal fouls. He was taken out until the final period when he returned to dump in six quick points during the Indians' futile comeback.

Rich Reitz took high point honors for Jeff with 17, tying him with Don high point Brice Peterson for game honors. Bob Brush and Don Boden chipped in with 11 and 10 points, respectively, for the Indians.

The lightweights redeemed an otherwise dismal week for the Indians by taking a 30-27 victory in the preliminary.

Willis and Mark Perry were high with 10 points apiece.

This Friday the entire picture will change with the addition to the varsity of you-know-who.

LARAINE THOMPSON practices driving at the Colma Golf Range as Pro Larry Montes, Lucille Tiscornia and Trudy Wyatt scan the horizon for the ball.

Golf, Ice Frolic For The Gals

Ice skating, a new togetherness sport for mother and her three to five year old child, will be offered by the YWCA of North San Mateo County this spring, it was announced this week.

The classes will be given in the mornings at the Legg School of Ice Skating, 1951 Ocean avenue. Evening classes for adult men and women will also be sponsored by the local YW.

In keeping with President Kennedy's emphasis on physical fitness, the YW is emphasizing its sports program this year. There will be beginning and intermediate classes in golf, an always popular activity, offered this year for the first time at the Westlake Clubhouse. The course will include lecture, practice at the clubhouse, practice at a local range and family playing on the course. These classes are given in the morning to accommodate housewives.

Swimming classes for beginners and intermediates will provide local women an other good way to keep in shape. The YW classes in swimming for tiny tots (3 to 5) accompanied by their mothers will also be continued.

YWCA membership is required for all classes. For fees, times and other information call the YWCA office at PL 6-7370.

Miss DC To Give Trophy

Miss Daly City, Lynette Fishel, will be basketball queen representing the city at the big March 10 Basketball Benefit for Handicapped Children at Hillsdale High School.

Lynette will introduce players from the champion Jefferson High School "D" team, and also all-league selections from the varsity, "B" and "C" teams. Coach Mike Orlich of the Jeff 110s will receive the championship trophy from Queen Lynette.

The big basketball festival will be highlighted by a game between coaches of North and South Peninsula League teams. The Northern Peninsula League team will be under the tutelage of Orlich.

The 25 physically handicapped and 25 mentally retarded children that are residents of San Mateo County will be the recipients of all the proceeds of this benefit. A full weekend in the snow for the kids is being planned for later in the year. Glen Smith is in charge of the evening.

Hillsdale High School is located at 31st avenue and Del Monte, Hillsdale. Program will start at 7:30 p.m.

A NEW SPORT!

AS A PLEASANT REMINDER that all to sport isn't grunt and groan, these Westmoor Pep Girls stimulate half-time shows and such during Ram ballgames. The girls recently donned this flapper regalia during a "Roaring Twenties" performance with the Westmoor band.
